For milleniums stories were told on rock, or handed down, by the Cammeraygals

The CAMMERAYGAL are an indigenous Australian group of people who were united by a common language, strong ties of kinship and survived as skilled hunter-fisher-gatherers in family groups or clans that inhabited the Lower North Shore of Sydney.

The traditional lands of the Cammeraygal people are now contained within much of the North Sydney, Willoughby, Mosman, Manly and Warringah local government areas. The Cammeraygal people lived in the area until the 1820s and are recorded as being in the northern parts of the Sydney region for approximately 5,800 years.
